The article text reads: "Te fare Tahiti Nui (also known as the Maison de la Culture) hosted the first edition of their Polynesia Festival from September 12th – 17th in Papeete. The event brought together delegations from throughout the Polynesian Triangle to showcase and share their culture. Highlights included native language classes, traditional dance workshops, storytelling sessions, craft exhibitions, a musical concert, and more. Organized around the theme of "Transmission," the diverse cultural activities offered during the week mirrored what the event organizers believe needs to be transmitted to the people of Polynesia." Below the article is a "Read more..." link. Further down, there are two links: "For more photos of ASCC activities, please visit our Photo Gallery." and "For more news, please visit our Press Releases page."
