ASCC'S PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

By Dezmond Applin

The Psychology Club, founded and advised by Mr. Derek Helsham, has been a part of ASCC's club scene since fall of 2015.

They have done a great amount of community service such as their Book Drive last year for the Tafuna Correctional Facility library as well their village cleanup of Nu'uuli that was last week. The club had even sponsored Valentine's Day candy grams for purchase. Psychology Club President Douglas Sene had this to say, "The Psychology Club is open to all students of ASCC who would like to become a part of our family. Although the club is great for socializing and meeting new friends, one of the most important aspects of the club is partaking in the community service projects that we provide for American Samoa."

One of their biggest events cosponsored by the Psychology Club, along with ASCC's Social Science Department, was a workshop last fall on domestic violence in American Samoa organized by the ALLIANCE Against Domestic and Sexual Violence. The workshop included speakers such Mona Uli, an Outreach Community Advocacy Coordinator and Pou Supapo of the Department of Public Safety, as well as many other social service advocates.

So far, the Psychology Club has done excellent work in providing services and outreaches for Tutuila. Made up of more than fifteen members, you can count on these young individuals to make a difference in our communities through their services. So if you would like to know more about ASCC's very own Psychology Club, please feel free to visit Mr. Derek Helsham in the Social Science Department during his available times, or contact any of the club's officers.

HALF TIME SHOW REVIEW

By Joanna Uele

“Coldplay featuring Beyoncé & Bruno Mars”

Some may say that the match between two teams in a Super Bowl is the most memorable moment in the Nation’s most anticipated annual sports event. But this year’s 50th Super Bowl, many would say, showed otherwise. I’d say this year’s Halftime Show murdered everyone’s boredom after the first half of the game.

The band Coldplay performed this year’s Halftime Show with two amazing guest star singers, Bruno Mars and Beyoncé. Together they made us all remember how moving music can be. Not to mention how much they reflected on the late King of Pop, Michael Jackson – Beyoncé’s outfit, Bruno’s slick dance moves, and Coldplay’s inspiring songs. Let me just break this show down for you.

Everyone loves Coldplay. I mean, who doesn’t? They are such great artists,. Coldplay opened up the scene with some of their top hit songs, Sky Full of Stars, Paradise, and Adventure of a Lifetime.

I believe that Bruno Mars is the Filipino version of Michael Jackson. As distracting as his height is to me, his dancing skills are mad. And do you know who else was bringing it on? The “Queen of R&B” herself, Beyoncé. Her entrance made you want to salute her and her backup dancers. She had to improvise a little when she nearly fell, but handled it like it was part of the choreography. Let’s not forget her attitude, strutting the stage and pushing the camera away like a boss.

The most interesting factor I noticed in the Halftime Show is how Coldplay and the two guest singers, diverse in genres and culture, were able to combine an electrifying performance for everyone to enjoy. They really pulled off a great mash-up.

If you haven’t watched the show yet, do yourself a favor and look it up online. I didn’t know what a great performance looked like until I watched this 50th Super Bowl Halftime Show.

Arts

Favorites:

Movie: A Walk to Remember

TV Show: The Fresh Prince of Bel Air

App: Instagram

Junk Food: Anything
Chocolate

Singer: Lauryn Hill

Subject: Music

What is something interesting about you?

I smile a lot and play the guitar. I write songs. I think so many weird things are cute.

What do you like to do outside of school?

Sing and play the guitar.

Where do you see yourself five years from now?

Doing music and writing songs.

Any advice you have for your fellow peers?

It's character over reputation I believe that character speaks volumes. Titles and labels don't mean anything. Be genuine and love people.
